Oxford Manifesto 1947

Drawn up at the International Liberal Conference at Wadham College, Oxford, in April, 1947

We, Liberals of nineteen countries assembled at Oxford at a time of disorder, poverty, famine and fear caused by two World Wars,

Convinced that this condition of the world is largely due to the abandonment of liberal principles,

Affirm our faith in this Declaration:

1. Man is first and foremost a being endowed with the power of independent thought and action, and with the ability to distinguish right from wrong.
2. Respect for the human person and for the family is the true basis of society.
3. The State is only the instrument of the community; it should assume no power which conflicts with the fundamental rights of the citizens and with the conditions essential for a responsible and creative life, namely:

Personal freedom, guaranteed by the independence of the administration of law and justice;

Freedom of worship and liberty of conscience;

Freedom of speech and of the press;

Freedom to associate or not to associate;

Free choice of occupation;

The opportunity of a full and varied education, according to ability and irrespective of birth or means;

The right to private ownership of property and the right to embark on individual enterprise;
